Mr. Snyder also has represented Rubicon Global in antitrust matters; Blink Health, Machine Zone and other clients in trade secret and commercial disputes; Facebook, Square, Hyperloop One and Yik Yak in founder litigation; and VeriFone in litigation involving digital in-taxi advertising technology.

Media and Entertainment Experience

Mr. Snyder represents both digital and traditional media and entertainment clients, which often seek him out for their bet-the-company cases. Mr. Snyder is lead counsel defending AMC Networks Inc. in the biggest profit participation cases ever brought in the cable television industry relating to the hit show "The Walking Dead." For VOOM HD Holdings, a former subsidiary of Cablevision, he obtained a lucrative settlement as lead trial counsel during a jury trial in a multibillion-dollar breach of contract action against DISH Network. The settlement, one of the largest in a breach of contract case in New York State court history, was valued at well over $1 billion. For NBC Universal Mr. Snyder obtained a rare preliminary injunction victory following a three-day evidentiary hearing, blocking the move of one of cable TV's most popular programs, "Project Runway," to Lifetime. And for Home Box Office he litigated and tried copyright and trademark cases that resulted in important legal precedents. Mr. Snyder also represents prominent individuals – including Bob Dylan, Jerry Seinfeld, Elton John, Lady Gaga, and David Letterman – in their litigation matters.

General Commercial Litigation

Mr. Snyder's broad trial lawyer practice has encompassed a wide range of other commercial matters. For example, he successfully represented the Chobani founder and CEO in a multibillion-dollar lawsuit brought by an individual seeking ownership of the company. For Starbucks he secured dismissal in a dispute with singer-songwriter Carly Simon over the disappointing sales for her album. For Capital One he obtained a high-value settlement before trial against a former chief executive officer alleged to have breached a restrictive covenant. And for Perella Weinberg he successfully served as lead trial counsel in complex litigation alleging trade secret misappropriation, fraud, and various breaches of contract and employment duties in connection with a joint venture.

New York Attorney General Experience

Mr. Snyder's practice extends to high-stakes matters involving the New York Attorney General. Among his achievements for clients is a groundbreaking settlement that he negotiated for Facebook in the area of Internet safety that was hailed as a model of compliance. For Warner Music Group he negotiated an industry-changing settlement concerning the record promotion industry. And for Freddie Mac he negotiated new standards for the home mortgage industry.

Investigations Experience

In addition to his very public litigation work, Mr. Snyder regularly works in the regulatory and investigative arena, counseling clients – both corporations and senior executives – on confidential issues, such as criminal and other government investigations that require expert handling of public relations. These matters include whistleblower cases, FCPA and money laundering, sanctions, fraud investigations, obstruction of justice, insider trading, tax fraud and allegations of personal misconduct. He has handled numerous internal investigations involving alleged insider trading, bank fraud, mail and wire fraud, tax evasion and alleged sexual harassment and discrimination in the workplace.

Advisory Experience

Mr. Snyder often acts as an advisor to the CEOs of large companies, founders and fund owners in connection with strategic planning, governance, and other corporate topics and concerns.

Pro Bono Experience

Mr. Snyder is deeply committed to pro bono work and is engaged in cases ranging from racial justice and criminal justice reform, to defending the First Amendment, and advocating for the rights of individuals impacted by discriminatory policies. Mr. Snyder currently serves as lead trial counsel in Deon Jones v. City of Los Angeles, a civil rights action asserting First and Fourth Amendment claims against the LAPD and others for shooting Mr. Jones in the face while he was peacefully protesting in the aftermath of the George Floyd murder. He is also co-lead trial counsel in Buchanan v. Trump, seeking to hold accountable members of the Trump administration for their audacious and offensive—and obviously unconstitutional—attack on peaceful protesters in Lafayette Square in June 2020. In addition, Mr. Snyder recently led the Gibson Dunn team that filed an amicus curiae brief with the United States Supreme Court on behalf of constitutional law scholars in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization. The case addresses the constitutionality of a Mississippi law prohibiting abortions performed at or after 15 weeks. The brief argues that overturning Roe v. Wade, which Mississippi asks the Court to do in upholding its law, would place women and their families at the mercy of state legislatures, denying them the basic right to make among perhaps the most personal decisions about their bodies, their families, and their futures.

Boards and Other Professional Affiliations

Mr. Snyder is active in the community and in public affairs. He is Vice Chair of the Board of Trustees of the Ethical Culture Fieldston School, a member of the Board of Trustees of the David Lynch Foundation, and a member of Tent Partnership for Refugees' Board of Directors.
